Hank and York Each Clout One with a Mate On

Gill's Six-Hit Hurling Wins His Second in 6-2 Game

By Charles P. Ward

Mickey Cochrane gave the Tigers another shot of his magic medicine another shot of his magic medicine. Thursday and the hit-crazy Eengals pounded out a victory over the Athletics, 6 to 2, in the opening game of a three-game series. A crowd of 4,850 turned out for the feativities. festivities, Mickey's magic consists of mov-ing Rudy York from his old station back of the plate to left field. Mickey needs only to mention the fact that he is thinking of shifting the Cherokee, and the Tigers get in a hitting mood. One word and they go up there swinging like a pugnacious drunk in a hall of mirrors.

Only Two Are Singles

Mickey really did shift York to left Thursday and the Tigers broke loose. They made only eight hits off Lynn (Line Drive) Nelson, the Mackian righthander, but all but two of these were good for extra bases. Two of them were home runs, three triples and one a double.

York and Hank Greenberg were the authors of the homers. Rudolph blasted his drive into the left-field pavilion in the fourth after Charley Gehringer had tripled to center. The homer was Rudolph's fifth of the season.

Hank's drive soared into the pavilion in right center with York on base in the sixth and gave the Tigers their last two runs. It was No. 8 for Hank. York and Hank Greenberg were Tigers their last two runs. It was No. 8 for Hank.

The shifting of York to left will be permanent, Cochrane said after the game. The Atco Atom Smasher didn't have any difficult chances, but he handled what chances did come his way in workmanlike fashion.

fashion.

DET193805190 part 1

Clipped By:

jordan_raddick Tue, Sep 12, 2017

